

Introduction to Glassblowing Intensive

Instructor: Jackson Hawkins, Assistant Professor of Practice, Glass

Pulliam Hall Industrial Wing, Room 109

March 7 - 30, 2023

Tuesday and Thursdays, 5 - 8 PM

This is a 4-week studio intensive, introducing fundamental techniques of glassblowing. Students will utilize traditional methods as a foundation for exploring glass as a material and its significance as an artistic medium.

Students will:

1. Better understand glass as a material
2. Develop foundational skills in glassblowing
3. Familiarization of working in a glass studio

Course Fee: $500.00

COVID-19:

The instructor will implement COVID-19 related safety protocols mandated by the university and will create or continue protocols based on the safety of students and staff.

Studio Health and Safety Policy:

You are responsible for the safety of yourself and others around you. If you are in the studio you must wear safety glasses, closed toed shoes and all natural fiber clothing while working in the hotshop. No polyester, rayon, nylon, etc. If you do not have safety glasses or closed toed shoes you will not be able to work in the glass studio and will be asked to leave, and will be counted absent for that day. Long hair must be tied back while working in hotshop.

Anyone acting in an unsafe manner will be asked to leave the glass studio. The glass studio can be dangerous if not used properly. As with any heavy equipment, dangerous behavior will not be tolerated. NO EXCEPTIONS! Students are not allowed to work in the studio and the hot shop outside of class time.
